Ideas for participation:

These books are photographic treasure hunts with rhyming clues. Parents and children will learn that reading can be active, by working together to solve the picture riddles. Parents and children will take turns describing a particular object on a page and challenging their partner to find it. The activity encourages both active participation and active listening.

I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Colors, shapes, sizes.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things the same color.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things colored just the same.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things shaped the same.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things with the same shape.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things just the same size.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Two things just the same size.
I spy, I spy with my little eye,
Colors, shapes and sizes.

Play "I Spy" verbally with things you see within a single room!

I Spy Rap!

I spy something with my eye,
Something starting with the letter A
Ah-ah apple, that's what I see
Apple, apple that's what I see
(continue through the alphabet)

Put some fun little gadgets in a old pop bottle with a bunch of rice...an instant
I spy bottle!

Keep a magnifier on hand for backyard or playground investigating!
